The game's key themes are elegance and grace, always seeking the light. This means we will develop a game that is meticulously crafted, and undergoes continuous adjustments. Feel free to download the game at COMMUNITY TOURNAMENT Hey guys, it's Vivian from the official KADENCE Facebook page! [KADENCE \[ROMAN\]](#) and [\[SNOW\]](#) received a lot of requests for a KADENCE-themed community event, so we thought we'd bring you all together in the land of hot springs and ancient ruins for a beautiful and relaxing experience! The community tournament will be structured into 4 rounds, each round featuring a different scenario. The top ranked players from each round will then move on to the next round. The grand final will include all the winners and 1st place with a special prize. The format will be 3vs3, each team consisting of 6 players that you can choose from the different communities (ie: COD, LoL, and StarCraft players). We have selected the following scenarios: ► Tree / Jungle Let's set out on a quest to defeat the evil sorcerer! But be wary of the faerie guardians that will be blocking your way and the enchanted animals that can be used against you. ► Abandoned City Now that you're all decided to kill the evil sorcerer, you find yourself in a big city! It's full of dark and deep traps, so use your reflexes to sneak past the fiends that patrol the city. ► Desert Barbarians have invaded the beautiful lands of Snow and its desert has now become full of them. But they're not the only things running amok! Is it the land that's finally going to vomit you up? ► Underground Waterfall / Underground Maze A subterranean human city lies beneath the town and there's no escaping the madness of the underground dungeons. Can you and your partner survive the onslaught of monsters, traps, and dastardly villains? Co-op with the community for the grand finals We are going to start accepting community applications for co-op events from both East Coast and West Coast players! This means that for the first time, we're going to have players from different communities team up to face off against

Article Comments commentsA Minimalist Approach To Life Two Texts that can help us with the Realities of Life. The Major Reality of Life is Uncertainty. We have already seen how this uncertainty arises in the Present Moment as a result of the Differentiation and Unity of Subject and Object, and if we are to experience the timeless depth of life, we need to embrace its moment-by-moment aspects. This embrace requires us to be present to life and to the Uncertainty of life. ~ Eckhart Tolle, Power of Now The Minor Reality of Life is Suffering. (For those of you reading this in the U.S. and not in the U.K., I am talking about the reality of physical suffering.) We all suffer, at times to varying degrees. If we were awake to our own realities, we would be forced to admit the suffering of other beings on this planet. We would know the depth and extent of suffering, and would respond not with denial or projection but with understanding and compassion. If we were able to come to terms with our own suffering, we would find it easier to come to terms with the suffering of others. ~ Pema Chödrön, When Things Fall Apart And there's the other one... Rise up Rise up for when day turns to night Rise up and see the light that guides the way Rise up for when day turns to night Rise up and have the strength to fight Rise up and remember Rise up and fall back Rise up and fight Rise up, forget Rise up, fall back Rise up, forget Rise up, fight Rise up and remember Rise up, fall back Rise up, forget Rise up and fight Rise up, remember Rise up, fall back Rise up and forget Rise up and fight I'm going to sit at the crossroads and see if I can bring either of those two texts up for me and see if they work in a way that we might never have thought of.Q: Create a filtered lookup table in excel vba I'm trying to create a table in excel which includes values only with certain criteria. for example: bff6bb2d33

Hey this is a custom DMSinnorth for those of you looking to run a game as a DM on Roll20. Most of the material is from The God Machine Chronicle by Iain M Banks; The History of the Munds by Michael Bishop and Brad Torgersen; the Queen of Mutants by Ian Watson; Harry Potter by JK Rowling; and a couple of bits of personal opinion. Some of the items in older editions and material that was on the WotC web site is not included. I will break down how to make this up once and then show it to you. Bear in mind that it is not fully tested since I'm a first-time DM and I only want to try it once. Create a new Roll20 character: This is the most interesting part for me. Here we have the Roll20 character that will be the DM. To the right of the dice sheet is the new player panel, where all new players will go to after they sign up on Roll20, this is where we meet the character and assign it the player's name. If you look to the right, the Matching name to character list that you created during the character generation process is there. Select the character you want from the list. The idle play button to the right, is where you will actually start your adventure to the game. The idle play button: This is the only button you need to use, when you start up your game. To start a session with the character, open up the game window, and click the idle play button. In the window that displays, click on the character you selected in the list on the left or to the right, you can now log on to your character. What appears is a chat box, with all of the players that are logged on at the same time. You can type in there and talk to each other, or if you leave that alone, it will stay in the box, because they are already looking at you. The box will say the name of the character that is logged on. If you leave this the default, it will jump between the other characters, and will display their name. When more players log on, the box will be re arranged into columns. You can click each player that is logged on to get another chat box, with the same chat button. Once you've set up the character, you will see the new message
