Boeing will also have to meet expectations of more fuel-efficient, safer airliners: A flight around the world using this aircraft will cost around $ 88 billion. So the airline and Boeing will be a major financial burden. To give the new aircraft cost and design qualities, Boeing completed a five-year development of the aircraft. As a result, the company today orders 8 aircraft for delivery in 2019, including three for customers Boeing the first of which are expected in 2019. A fifth aircraft is due to arrive in the summer of 2020, then one per year until 2023. Based on this introductory model from AFS Design, a company formed after the merger of Airbus and Boeing aerospace. The Boeing 787 Dreamliner is a twin-engine long-range airliner and is designed for 200 to 300 passengers. The Boeing 787 is one of the most fuel-efficient aircraft in the world and the first large commercial aircraft primarily come from the composite materials used. The B787 is designed to burn up to 20% less fuel per seat than the Boeing 767. The Boeing 787 Dreamliner has an electronic control system (fly by wire), a four-piece windshield, noise-reducing chevrons on the engines, and a smoother nose contour.
