Huawei is a co-brand of network provider, CDMA carrier MetroPCS which originally started as Zaire Communicatios. MetroPCS later shortened the brand name and released it for worldwide operation. It should be noted that the ZTE network lock protection is as per the carrier/manufacture specifications and it may or may not affect the stability of the phone. It is better to call the manufacturer directly to ask if it will affect the stability of the phone. In case it does affect the stability then chances are the phone may not be factory unlockable. It is up to the manufacturer to decide if the phone is stable or not. Repair feature solves :No network after unlock;SIM Lock status : unknown (read failedSIM Lock status : unlocked (but phone asks for code).No difference how security data was damaged, it can be repaired without backup.
