===== KEYMACRO is a simple, easy to use batch text macro recorder.You can easily record and play the macros of Hotkeys or various commands of your computer Note: As this is a small freeware, there is no new version released so far. We have no source for the following message: Just like this one I am about to show you, is the way to make this kind of file renaming using only one hotkey. When we use hotkeys to launch applications or to navigate into some folders, we are easily able to rename files (or folders). If we use hotkeys, we can create, list or rename hundreds of files or folders in just seconds. Not only that, but you can even record those hotkeys. The problem, however, is that you have to remember all the hotkeys you used. And, sometimes, you forgot one. Well, I'll try to solve the problem, so that you won't forget any hotkey. This is what I am going to show you in this tutorial. In this way, you can easily record, restore and memorize any hotkey. And, it's the way to create your own batch file. Now, let's start by making the basic idea. By using this method, you will be able to run the renaming process from any file with just a single hotkey. Like you are now, I am from Italy and I use Mac and a PC. The way I'm about to show you is a little bit different, but it's so easy that it's a pleasure. If you follow me in my YouTube Channel, you can find lots of videos on the subject. Anyway, we're starting with a simple example. Let's pretend that I would like to rename all my documents by copying the first name, the last name and the extension of the file. By using the method I'm going to show you, you will be able to rename a folder (or any other file) by copying the first name, the last name and the extension of the file. If you follow me on my video tutorial, you will be able to rename your files quickly. All you have to do is to follow the steps I'm going to show you. First of all, let's make a folder in the Documents. Let's say that it's called: Prova Renaming. Like the name says, this is a small 2edc1e01e8
